REF. & REN.

Cambridge:
PRINTED BY C. J. CLAY, M.A. AND SONS,
AT THE UNIVERSITY PRESS.

PREFACE.

THE volume that I am now able to publish complete has been long in preparation, and as it has some features peculiar to itself, a few words of Introduction seem necessary to explain its plan and object.

In the year 1873, having become possessed of the book (Galen, De Temperamentis) that till then had been accepted as the first printed at Cambridge, I attempted to get information respecting all the known copies of this and of the other works printed by John Siberch, and the result of an examination of these books by the late Mr Henry Bradshaw has already appeared[1].

In furtherance of "An attempt to trace the succession of University printers" I have for many years been making a collection of the books printed at Cambridge by the successors of Siberch, and some notes on these printers from Siberch downwards have been given to the public[2].

With regard to this publication, it is necessary to state that it is only a bookseller's catalogue, not a Bibliography, and it therefore contains only the books we actually possess. It has however been my endeavour so to describe the books printed to 1700—by giving the titles in full, an exact collation with the sizes according to form and not to measurement, and by noting any apparent imperfections, even to the blank leaves at the beginning and end—as to make it bibliographically useful.

[1] Introduction to the facsimile of Henry Bullock's Oratio habita Cantabrigiae of 1521. Macmillan and Bowes, 1886.

[2] Bibliographical Notes on the University Printers from the commencement of Printing in Cambridge to the Present Time. By Robert Bowes. Camb. Ant. Society Communications, Vol. v. p. 283.

Section I. with Appendix A and Section III. with Appendix C contain the books printed at Cambridge from 1521 to 1800, while Section II. with Appendix B and Section IV. with Appendix D contain those for the same period relating to or connected with Cambridge in some other way. Section V. with Appendix E contains those published from 1801 to the present time. The books printed at Cambridge in this Section are not, as in the two previous parts, in a separate list, but they are distinguished by signs for the names of the printers, a list of which is given with the Contents; and while the chronological arrangement which has been followed from the beginning is still continued, long series of Poems, Essays, etc., as shewn in the Contents, are gathered together under the first date of each group. This Section contains a great many topographical books with illustrations. Where the plates have been described in Upcott or elsewhere, a reference is given; but in other cases the list is here printed in full. The titles of the Publications of the Cambridge Antiquarian Society, and the names of contributors to the Communications are given. There is also a complete list of the publications of the Cambridge Camden Society. Cambridge during this century has been prolific in periodical literature, and while I have been able to include most of these publications, I have in many cases, by the kind help of those who were connected with them, been also able to print the names of the contributors.

Appendix I., alluded to above as A, B, C, D, E, consists of additions to the first five sections of the Catalogue, Appendix II. of MS. material, and Appendix III. of loose maps, views, caricatures, etc., the chief items being indicated in the Contents.

For Appendix IV. I am indebted to Mr F. Jenkinson, University Librarian. It is a list of all the books printed at Cambridge from 1521 to 1650 that are at present known to him, and in the absence of a complete Bibliography will be useful for reference. Such of these as are described in this volume have the catalogue number at the end of the title.

The first portion of the Catalogue will I hope be of use to those who are interested in the history of early printing. There are also notes to upwards of 900 names by which it is sought to identify the writer with his book, and to give the names of the authors of many anonymous works. As in most cases the College, dates of degrees and of University offices are given, it would be easy to see which of the books in the Catalogue are written by the members of any College. I have also been able in many cases to give the date and place of birth and death, so that collectors in different parts of the country may find here works written by many men educated at the University who were natives of, or residents in, their own district. The chronological arrangement would enable any one interested in a particular period to discover what there is in the Catalogue belonging to it.

The collection and cataloguing of the books of the early Cambridge Printers is due to the interest and encouragement of the late Mr Henry Bradshaw, and but for him this volume would probably never have appeared. I cannot however conclude without recording my grateful acknowledgements to those who for many years have given me help in carrying out this work, and I must specially name Mr F. Jenkinson M.A., University Librarian, Mr F. Madan M.A., Assistant Librarian, Bodleian Library, Mr J. Bass Mullinger M.A., Librarian St John's College, Mr William White, Sub-Librarian Trinity College, and Mr J. P. Edmond, Librarian to the Earl of Crawford. The extent to which I have availed myself of their services is at all events evidence of my desire to secure accuracy; and while in a book of this size with such a number and variety of facts many mistakes must have crept in and remained undiscovered, it has certainly been rendered much less imperfect by their help.

Both titles have a printer's device consisting of a globe with the initials "G. G. F." surmounted by a phoenix and supported by two satyrs, with inscriptions "Semper eadem," & "Dela mia morte eterna vita i vivo." This is the device of "Gabriel Giolito de Ferrari" a printer of Venice in 1547.
Christopher Angelus, a learned Greek Christian, native of Peloponnesus, who was persecuted at Athens, and escaped to England in 1608, and came first to Cambridge, whence he went to Balliol College, Oxford in 1610, afterwards returning to Trinity College, Cambridge. Besides the above work, he wrote the story of his persecution in Athens, also an "Encomion of Great Britaine etc.," and a book "de Apostasia Ecclesiae" which attempts, among other things, to prove that Mahomet was Antichrist. He died in 1638, & was buried in St. Ebbe's Churchyard, Oxford.

"Mr Beloe informs us that the types were borrowed from the sister university "of Oxford: and that there is said to be a letter in existence from Lord "Pembroke*, the chancellor of Cambridge, in which the curators of the Oxford "university press are entreated for the loan of their Greek types, as they made no "use of them themselves." Dibdin, Introd. I. 137.

* Qu. 'to Lord Pembroke, the chancellor of Oxford.'

In reference to the loan of Greek types by Oxford to Cambridge, Mr F. Madan, of the Bodleian Library, Oxford, kindly supplies us with the following particulars:—"Sir Henry Savile, Warden of Merton, Provost of Eton &c., gave in his life-time to the University of Oxford the matrixes of his Greek type and much of the type itself. This is clear from the Preface to the Ultima linea Savilii (Oxf. 1622). The type was famous ever after the publication of Savile's Chrysostom at Eton about 1610. In 1629 (June 16) the University of Cambridge begged the loan of the matrixes of Savile's Greek type: on June 30 the Convocation at Oxford granted the loan, and presumably the matrixes went to Cambridge. On 24 June 1631 they were returned. The details are in the Register of Convocation marked R. 24, foll. 10, 13, 22: which is in the University Archives here."

Commendatory verses by R. Crashaw and others. ¶ 2, A—Tt 4, last (blank?) wanting. Old sheep. From the Napier Sale. 18*s*.

In dedication "Ad Matrem Academiam Cantabrigiensem" he thus describes his connection with Peterhouse. "Petrenses *sancti juvate clavibus bibliocleric*um vestrum, olim famosi Perni amanuensem, Moynei [Thomas, afterwards Bp. of Kilmore] & Morisoni [Fynes, a celebrated traveller] condiscipulum."

The verses by Crashaw were printed in his collected works under the title of "On a Treatise of Charity," and without the last 10 lines, beginning:—

"Nor shall our zealous ones still have a fling"

and ending;—

"To be a true Protestant, 's but to hate the Pope."

These lines were discovered by Turnbull after his edition was printed, and were inserted at the end of the preface. In Grosart's edition of Crashaw the whole poem is printed for the first time from this work.

See reference to this work, Gardiner's History of England (Cr 8° Edit.), Vol. viii. pp. 123–4, & 128.

Robert Shelford, Pet. matriculated 1580, B.A. 1583, M.A. 1587. "In the church (Ringsfield), screens and wainscot of chancel walls abundantly charged with quotations from the Scriptures, and moral adages in Latin and Hebrew. These ornaments...mark the taste of Rob. Shelford, Bible Clerk of Peterhouse, and intituled Rector in 1599...In the chancel is an altar-tomb, surmounted by a mural slab, both of which record the virtues of R. S. Rector who died in 1627 aged 64." Suckling's Suffolk, 1846–8, Vol. I. pp. 68–9.

The mural slab referred to by Suckling was put up by Shelford in his lifetime, viz. in 1627, when his age is given as 62. As his successor was not appointed till 1639, and the above work is not described as a posthumous publication, 1639 was probably the year of his death.

A rare edition. "This edition is said to have been revised by the King's "command by several learned men of Cambridge, Dr. Ward, Dr. Goad, Mr. Boyse, "Mr. Mead, etc. Probably this was the Bible in which Buck and Daniel "challenged the whole of Cambridge, by a bill fixed on the door of St. Mary's "church, that if any Scholar could find any literal fault in it he should have a "Bible for his pains...It is the first in which the clause in Acts vi. 3 is "rendered 'whom ye may appoint,' instead of 'whom we may appoint.' The "mistake was copied into many following editions....I believe that the first "person who publicly noticed this mistranslation was Dr. William Wotton, in a "Sermon preached at Newport-Pagnall, Bucks., in answer to Tindal's Book 'The "Rights of the Christian Church'". Cotton.

"This, perhaps the finest Bible ever printed at Cambridge, being revised at "the time and carefully printed, has served as standard for many subsequent "editions. There are, however, some extraordinary errors in it which have led "smaller sheep astray." Stevens.

The Seconde Booke of Divine Poems By J. H....London Printed by E. G. for J. Rothwell. 1647. This title is the 3rd leaf of sig. F. How comes it to have the initials of a London printer?—It is dedicated "to his truly noble, and worthily honoured friend Thomas Stanley Esquire" (Author of History of Philosophy and Editor of Æschylus), and dated, "St. John's Jan. 6. 1646." There are commendatory verses; among others by "H. More Fell. of Chr. Coll." "To the young Authour upon his incomparable veine in Satyre and Love-"sonnets," beginning:—

"Young Monster! born with teeth! that thus canst bite
"So deep, canst wound all sorts at ten and eight."

In Cooper's Ath. Cant. II., 178—9, it is suggested that G. P. is Gerard Peeters, educated at Westminster; Trinity, 1582, Fellow & B.A. 158$\frac{3}{4}$, M.A. 1590. His fellowship was vacated between 1592 & 1595. Greek verses by him (signed Gerard Peeter) appear in the University Collection on the death of Sir Philip Sidney, 1587. See No. 218. If the author of this work, it must have been written while Peeters was still an undergraduate.

The work to which the above refers is De Umbra Rationis by Alexander Dickson, 1583. Chancellor Christie calls our attention to the fact that Dickson was a friend of Giordano Bruno—"tanto fidele amico, Alessandro Dicsono"—& that he appears as one of the interlocutors in the De la Causa Principio et Uno.

The Family of Love was a sect of foreign origin, founded in Holland in 1555, being an offshoot of Dutch Anabaptists, and grounding their belief on the teaching of Henry Nicholas, a Westphalian, one of the most intimate friends of the fanatic David George, but rather differing from him in belief.

Henry More in his Mystery of Godliness wrote against the teaching of this sect. Rose's Biog. Dict. article Nicholas; Worthington's Diary, I., 168.

Francis Anthony, or Antony, London, B. 1550, son of a wealthy goldsmith, educated at Cambridge, where he studied chemistry. Went to London, where he invented a medicine called "Aurum Potabile," said to be prepared from gold. He was imprisoned for prescribing & vending physic without a licence, but set at liberty by the lord chief justice. Being again apprehended and fined he published a defence, printed at Cambridge in 1610, which was answered by Dr. Gwinne of Oxford, to whom the above is a reply. He was also attacked by Dr. Cotta, of Trinity & Corpus Colleges, afterwards of Northampton. Anthony became M.A. 1574, and afterwards M.D. D. May 26, 1623; buried in St. Bartholomew the Great.

325. Charge at the General Quarter Sessions of the Peace Held for the County of Cambridge, at the Castle of Cambridge, $168\frac{8}{9}$. By Sir M. D. of Grey's-Inn...Lond. 1689. 4°.

A 4. 7*s*. 6*d*.

By the kind help of Mr Douthwaite, Librarian of Gray's Inn, we have been enabled to identify the author of this pamphlet as Sir Marmaduke Dayrell, of Camps Castle, Cambs., admitted to Gray's Inn 1668, knighted March 22, $168\frac{4}{5}$.

It will be seen that this charge was delivered between the date of the departure of James II. (Dec. 23) and the proclamation of William and Mary (Feb. 13).

After an Introduction beginning, "It cannot be expected that I should enter "upon the ordinary Methods of direction which has been usual at other times," the charge begins: "The great occasion of our meeting here is, for Preservation "of the Peace in matters Ecclesiastical as well as Civil." All reference to the latter is contained in the two concluding paragraphs: "I should now come to "speak of the Civil Power, or that Legal Administration of Justice peculiar to "this Kingdom; which is Jus suum cuique tribuere. But there having been "many Discourses of that nature formerly in this place by Gentlemen whose "Learning and Abilities I have infinitely more reason to value than my own, I "shall for this time spare you and my self that trouble."

Sive Omnium Celeberrimae istius Universitatis Collegiorum, Aularum, Bibliothecae, Academiae Scholarum Publicarum, Sacelli Coll: Regalis nec non Totius Oppidi Ichnographia Delineatore & Sculptore Dav: Loggan Utriusque Academiae Calcographo....Quam Proprijs Sumptibus Typis Mandavit & Impressit Cantabrigiae. [1690.] F°.

Engraved title, Dedication to William and Mary, Preface, and Index Tabularum, ff. 4. 30 folding plates, and mezzotint portrait of the Duke of Somerset (usually wanting). Old red morocco. £15. 15*s.*

The title consists of a view of Cambridge, with a stream flowing to the town from Parnassus on which is Apollo's temple with the Muses. At foot of title is a ⊕ upheld by supporters. The exact date of the issue of Cantabrigia Illustrata as a complete work has been ascertained by M^{r} J. W. Clark to be 1690. David Loggan is said to have been born at Dantzig in 1630; to have learnt engraving in Denmark from Simon van de Passe; and to have completed his studies in Holland under Hendrik Hondius, and to have come to England about the year 1653. In 1669 he was appointed engraver to the University of Oxford, and in 1690 to that of Cambridge. He is said by Walpole, on the authority of Vertue, to have died in London in 1693 or 1700: "The conscientious accuracy, "as well as the artistic ability, with which Loggan's views are drawn, render "them an invaluable guide. As Professor Willis said in one of his lectures, "Loggan enables one to walk into the quadrangles of the colleges, and discover "their style of architecture. Every detail of the buildings, the courts, and the "gardens, is carefully noted, so that they present not merely a record of the "architecture, but of the life of the period." For list of plates and further particulars see Willis & Clark's Architect. Hist. of Cambridge, Vol. I., pp. cvii—cxiv.

There is a later issue of the work to which has been added on the engraved title, "Printed & Sold by Hen: Overton at ye White Horse without Newgate London," with a preface in English not dated, but which must have been written after Loggan's death.

This is a satire on the statute of some of the Colleges that the Master and the Fellows should not be allowed to marry. In the beginning of 1766 an unsuccessful attempt was made to obtain a grace of the Senate constituting a syndicate to prepare a petition to parliament that fellows of colleges should not lose their fellowships by marriage. Doubtfully ascribed to Chas. Caraccioli, schoolmaster at Arundell, who wrote the Antiquities of that town. 'I mentioned to you, I think, a pamphlet which 'gave some account of Sturbridge and Bury Fairs...Cambridge, without date. 'Where the author picked up the anecdote of Mary Queen of France, sister of 'Henry VIII coming annually from her manor of Westhorpe to Bury Fair, and 'her having a magnificent tent there, with a splendid retinue, and a band of 'music, I cannot imagine—it may perhaps be true; for Westhorpe belonged to 'her second husband, the Duke of Suffolk.'

Gunning, who was an intimate friend of Wrangham, gives in his Reminiscences (Vol. II. pp. 14—37) some account of him, and of the circumstances that led to his leaving Trinity Hall. A vacant Fellowship having been filled up from another college, Wrangham appealed to the Lord Chancellor as Visitor, but without result. "The real objection of the Fellows to the election of Wrangham" was "his supposed attachment to republican principles." "One of the charges "against him was his having written epigrams reflecting upon Jowett." The following is one of the many versions of that on the "little garden":—

A little garden little Jowett made,
And fenced it with a little palisade;
A little taste had little Dr Jowett,
This little garden doth a little show it.

Thus Tophet looked; so grinn'd the brawling fiend,
Whilst frighted prelates bow'd, and call'd him friend.
Our mother-church, with half-averted sight,
Blush'd as she bless'd her grisly proselyte;
Hosannas rung thro' Hell's tremendous borders,
And Satan's self had thoughts of taking orders.

1420. Tripos Verses. The lists of the Tripos with verses at the back. Various Years. 1800 to 1884. F°.

51 different lists. £3. 3*s*.

Until 1858 inclusive there were two of these lists "In Comitiis Prioribus" & "In Comitiis Posterioribus," on the first of which appeared the Wranglers and Senior Optimes of the Math. Tripos, and on the second the Junior Optimes. Since then there has only been one list, the Classical Tripos being added in 1859, and the other Triposes when they were established.

For account of the Tripos see Mr Chr. Wordsworth's Scholae Academicae, chap. II. pp. 16—21, in which is traced the origin & gradual change in meaning of the word "from a thing of wood [a three-legged stool] to a man, from a man to a speech, from a speech to two sets of verses, from verses to a sheet of coarse foolscap paper, from a paper to a list of names, and from a list of names to a system of examination."

(b) The Gownsman. Camb. 1830. 12°.

See post No. 1761.

The 2 vols., each enclosed in a morocco box, finished in Roger Payne style by Rivière. £84.

With this copy of the Snob is a pencil drawing of a cobbler with a pen in his hand, and these lines below:

I'm thinking friends both nobs & snobs
My wit's but waiting for your bobs.

The paper on which the drawing is done has a water mark ...SFORD...28, much of the same character as that on which some numbers of The Gownsman are printed, so that it probably dates from the time of publication.

The increased interest in these two small periodicals is due to the knowledge of Thackeray's connection with them. From extracts from Thackeray's own letters that appear in Mr. C. P. Johnson's Early Writings of Thackeray we learn that he wrote in The Snob 'Timbuctoo' (No. 4), 'To Guenevieve' (No. 5), 'Advertisements: Sidney Sussex College, Wanted a few freshmen,' &c. (No. 6), and that he with the editor wrote No. 8 in one evening. Writing in May, 1829 Thackeray says 'I think after the vacation we shall set up a respectable periodical here. I shall have four months to write for it.' For The Gownsman, the periodical here referred to, Mr. Johnson states on the authority of Mr. Edward Fitzgerald that Thackeray contributed the articles signed Θ, and he infers that those signed T. T. and the 'Ramsbottom Papers' were also by him. In a letter from Mr. Edward Fitzgerald to a friend (Feb. 1880) he writes "...It was not I "who told Trollope that W. M. T. went up to Cambridge in 1829. I only know that "then it was that I first knew him, & have always fancied him in his Freshman-"hood. I first met him at his former Tutor's with whom he had travelled a little "before coming to Cambridge & who was editor of that same Gownsman which I "gave you. One Williams who also just got me through the Poll in 1829-30, & "who afterwards took orders & died some 20 years ago or more. He had been "much with Ath. Gasca*: & from him W. M. T. imbibed so great an interest in "that Philosopher."

Nobles, and learned Clerks, and Ladies gay,
Who all, in fair assembly ranged, were by
When antiquarian pickaxe broke its way
Through Bartlow's old mysterious tumuli;
Would you indeed the tinkling still retain
Of bells that jingled for your disport then?
Take here the moment's rhyme;—the trifling strain
(Secure with you from churlish critic's ken,)
May bring some pleasant days back to your thoughts again.

This was announced as the "organ of the 'New Generation'...we speak for "the Church, and we do so as reverend and faithful sons; for such we hope ever "to remain. We speak for the Crown, as it becomes loyal and loving subjects; "and our regret is well known that we can but speak for it as it is, with shorn "power and dimmed lustre. And last of all we speak, and will speak, for the "People—the people, with whose sorrows we sympathize, whose wrongs it is our "earnest wish to see redressed, and for whose happiness is our warmest prayer." The articles are almost exclusively reviews of books, in a few cases signed with initials.

"If a Wordsworth, descending from his height of gentlemanly scholarship to "this sweet, simple chronicling of simple nature (in the 'Song of the Butterfly,') "fresh as a breezy June morning—if a Wordsworth had done it, we should have "set down this poem as 'charming'; but when it comes from the brain of an "uneducated Hodge, to whom even decent English must have been a difficult "acquirement, we are forced to reflect 'This man must have something in "him.'...A noticeable trait in Withers is his exceeding refinement of sentiment "and expression, while far loftier versifiers seem to think it poetical to be coarse, "and hold that gorgeous diction atones for any sensuousness or even sensuality "in idea; this man, whose life has been passed in the sphere where the grossness "of human nature rarely attempts to disguise itself, never pens a verse which a "good man, when grown an old man, might regret having once written, and blush "to see one of his own growing-up daughters read."

A Hedge-side Poet, by the author of 'John Halifax' in Macmillan's Magazine, April 1860.

CATALOGUE OF CAMBRIDGE BOOKS.

VII. APPENDIX II.

MSS.

2945. [The Foundation of the University of Cambridge, by John Scot, Notar. Pub.]. Consisting of a short account of the University, of each of the 16 Colleges with a list of the Master & Fellows at March 25, 1617, Founders of the Schools, library, magistrates & officers, with 53 coats of arms blazoned, 26 leaves of the original work, with two in the handwriting of Thomas Baker to make up for leaves wanting in this copy. Fcap. F°., loose in the old calf covers. c. 1618.

This copy, which belonged to Thomas Baker, has no title page & wants the second half of the history of the University, which however is supplied by Baker from another copy. The copies were executed at different times between 1617 & 1621, the date to which each was made up being in some cases stated on the title page;—There is one in Emmanuel College 1617, one in Jesus 1618, & one in the British Museum 1621. Of the work Mr. H. A. Woodham in his "Heraldry" of the University and Colleges thus speaks: "At the head of each section are two "coats, one exhibiting the bearings of the College therein treated of, & the other "apparently intended to give those of its founder. All the family shields of the "University Officers are likewise given, impaling, where necessary, those of "their office: the whole displaying much scientific accuracy & great pictorial "beauty."

2946. The Visitation of Cambridgeshire, 1619, by Henry St. George Richmond herald, as deputy of William Camden Clarenceux. F°., 56 leaves, in old vellum covers. £8. 8*s*.

For edition printed at the private press of Sir Thomas Phillipps in 1840, see ante No. 1995*.

2947. Protestations, Oxford and Cambridge, 1641—2. Vol. I. 25 Fcap. F°. double pages for Cambridge, 17 for Oxford. Vol. II. Index of 83 pp. containing upwards of 4400 names; the 2 vols. bound in half morocco. £3. 3*s*.

These copies of returns sent to the House of Commons in February 164½ were made by the late Mr. J. E. Bailey. This protestation or declaration to defend the protestant religion against Popish innovation, his Majesty's person honour & estate, the power & privileges of Parliament, the rights and liberties of the Subject & the Union of the three Kingdoms, was made by the House of Commons May 3, 1641. It was sent to the Corporation of Cambridge by Oliver Cromwell & John Lowry their representatives, and signed May 11. It was sent to the two Universities in the following February. The returns give what appears to be a complete list of the members of each college at the time, &, in the case of Cambridge, of all the College Servants, showing those who took the protestation & also those who did not, whether from "absense, nonage, sickness,

"or not coming, or going away without subscribing or telling their names & so "refusing it." The total number at Cambridge was 2103, and of College Servants, Public Officers of the University &c. 307; at Oxford 2014, the Servants not being given or not distinguished.

Enlarged from Loggan. "Honoratissimo Dom: Domino Francisco Godolphin Baroni Royalton. Tabula Merito votiva." For account of Lord Godolphin's gift of £400 for paving the Ante-chapel, see Willis & Clark I, 530 & note.

2983. O[rde,] T[homas, of King's.] A School of Athens, dedicated to the illustrious Inheritress of her fame in Professors of Arts & Sciences, the University of Cambridge. O Matre pulchra Filia pulchrior! T. O. inv^{t} & del^{t}., J. Bretherton f. 3^{d}. Jan^{y}. 1778. 24 × 18 in. £3. 3*s.*

This picture shows out of the right window St. Mary's Church, & out of the left the Senate House, and is therefore probably taken from a room in the old Provost's Lodge of King's. At a high table there is an elderly man in academicals, and a younger man writing at a table below, & on each side a fencing master & fiddler (representing the "Professors of Arts and Sciences"?). Three Countrymen are entering the room, the first with a bag, and these may be coming to pay their rents, the lower figure, writing, being the Bursar, and that above being the Provost. The face is like that of Dr. Cooke who was Provost at the time (1778).

2984. Modern Universal British Traveller [Published by J. Cooke, 1779.] Three views each 12 × 7½ in. (1) View of Clare Hall & King's College Chapel. (2) West View of Cambridge. (3) View of the City of Ely. The three, 4*s.* 6*d.*

Etched by I. B. [?John Bretherton.] 12¼ × 8½ in. Published Febr 21st 1786. 7*s.* 6*d.*

2987. The Petitioning Vintners of C——ge. Published by S. Watts No. 50 Strand April 16, 1786. 13 × 10¼ in. 7*s.* 6*d.*

This and the previous plate refer to an edict against Dinners at Taverns. We can find no special edict in the year 1785, but in the Excerpta e Statutis issued in that year, regulations "Against resorting to taverns," dated 1728 & 1750, appear. Probably it was printed with a view to enforcing these regulations. In a pamphlet published in 1788 entitled Remarks on the Enormous Expence in the Education of Young Men in the University of Cambridge (see ante No. 1331) the following sentence occurs:—"It is true indeed, that some time ago, I believe "about the end of the year 1785, there was a faint attempt made to prevent the "young men in Statu Pupillari giving Dinners...but...they were young men of "fashion and it was connived at."
